

The Sampford Peverell Society's Data Privacy Statement

This statement sets out how the Society processes your data and keeps it secure.

Personal data we collect and hold for the Society's purposes as outlined below

We will collect the following types of data:

- Your name, postal address, telephone number and email address, which you provide.
- A record of your membership, which we create once you become a member.

You are not required to provide all, or any, of the personal information described above to us. However, if you do not do so, then we may not be able to contact you to keep you informed about the Society's activities and events and you may not be able to access other benefits provided to members.

What do we do with the information?

We use the information that you have provided for the following purposes:

- To maintain a record of membership.
- To distribute information about the Society, its activities and events, and other information such as events held by other groups which we think may be of interest to you. The Society's preferred method of communicating with you is by email.

We do not share your personal data with, or sell your personal data to, any third parties, neither does any external body process your data on our behalf.

How do we keep your personal data secure?

Personal data is held in a password protected file on a computer that is protected by a firewall and virus-checking software. The data is accessible only to those members of the Society's Committee who need it for the purposes described above.

How long do we keep your personal data?

We retain your personal data, keeping it up to date as and when you inform us of any changes, for the duration of your membership and for one year thereafter.

Your rights in relation to your personal data

You may ask for your data to be amended or deleted at any time. You may also ask the Society to disclose to you the data that it holds about you.

If you would like to exercise any of these rights, please email: sampevsoc@gmail.com

I agree to the Society holding the data which I list below and to processing that data as described in the Data Privacy Statement :
